Roanoke city is a patchwork of neighborhoods, each with its own personality. Grandin Village has its historic theater and corner shops, Raleigh Court has tree-shaded streets of bungalows and Tudors, South Roanoke has stately homes near the foot of Mill Mountain and Old Southwest is full of Victorian houses with wraparound porches. All of them are within the service area of The Happy Housekeepers, a house cleaning company that has served Roanoke since 1979.

Older city homes come with special cleaning needs. Original hardwood floors need regular mopping to keep grit from dulling the finish. Tall windows with deep sills and old-style blinds gather dust and pollen. Radiators, built-in cabinets and detailed trim offer plenty of ledges where dust settles. The standard visit addresses many of these, including dusting window sills, baseboards, blinds and ceiling fans and dusting or polishing furniture.

Specialized services are especially valuable in these houses. Washing walls and woodwork brings out the beauty of original trim and plaster. Cleaning light fixtures restores the glow of vintage chandeliers and sconces. Basements in older homes, often unfinished with stone or block walls, benefit from the company's basement cleaning, which removes dust and cobwebs that build up below ground.
