However, due to stringent trade cooldowns and restrictions executed by Valve, the landscape has actually moved.

Traditional Bot Trading

- Play: The site credits the user's balance based on the Steam Market value of the skin.
- Withdraw: The user requests a skin withdrawal, and a bot sends a trade deal including the asked for product back to the user.

Peer-to-Peer (P2P) Trading

To bypass Valve's rigid trade constraints, lots of modern-day platforms make use of P2P systems. Instead of the site holding the products, the platform connects a buyer directly with a seller. When a gamer wins a product, the site instructs another player to send that item straight to the winner. This technique has actually mostly changed standard bot inventories due to its increased security versus trade bans.
