Watch My Workplace

No one can assert to have left an account statement in your home. I long for the interpersonal communication of in-person arbitration. Nevertheless, I have already identified that I will certainly maintain the Zoom teleconference arbitration on a permanent basis for those that want it for these reasons, assuming it is appropriate. For attorney-participating settlements and/or for arbitration participants who really feel mentally hazardous in the existence of his/her partner, it might be my preferred method of mediation. It took some months for all to catch up on the discovering curve of using Zoom, unmuting, screaming comments, weak net connections, uninvited youngsters, grandparents, and many, many animals intruding into sessions. At first this appeared to be the norm and not the exemption. Right now, the Ninth Judicial Circuit Court is declining applications. New methods were created to firmly exchange financial records usually created personally during arbitration. My perception was the practice of arbitration may deal with this change of format. All of it felt less individual, less hospitable, more stressful. We will listen to your problems and offer an arbitration procedure that fits the parties' distinct situation.

Arbitration	Mediation
Arbitrators control the outcome.	Parties control the outcome.
Arbitrator is given power to decide. Final and binding decision.	Mediator has no power to decide. Settlement only with party approval.
Often extensive discovery is required.	Exchange of information is voluntary and is often limited. Parties exchange information that will assist in reaching a resolution.
Arbitrator listens to facts and evidence and renders an award.	Mediator helps the parties define and understand the issues and each side's interests.
Parties present case, testify under oath.	Parties vent feelings, tell story, engage in creative problem-solving.
Process is formal. Attorneys control party participation.	Process is informal. Parties are active participants.
Evidentiary hearings. No private communication with the arbitrator.	Joint and private meetings between individual parties and their counsel.
Decision based on facts, evidence, and law.	Outcome based on needs of parties.
Result is win/lose award—Relationships are often lost.	Result is mutually satisfactory—A relationship may be maintained or created.
More expensive than mediation, but less expensive than traditional litigation.	Low cost.
Private (but decisions are publicly available).	Private and confidential.
