

When it comes to supporting your dog's hip and joint health, consistency is key. Many owners wonder if ordering supplements like the Everhound Hip & Joint - Daily Soft Chews in an annual subscription, delivered every 360 days, is the best approach. Is it practical? Will my dog get enough daily support? And how does this subscription really work when considering pricing and convenience? Let's unpack everything you need to know about Everhound's delivery plans, their product formulation, pricing strategies, and how to maximize value with their subscription options.

Understanding Daily Joint Support vs. Treatment

The Everhound Hip & Joint line is designed primarily as a daily support supplement, not a treatment. This distinction matters a lot when setting expectations for delivery frequency and usage.

- Daily Support: These chews contain ingredients like glucosamine, MSM, and omega fatty acids that contribute to maintaining healthy cartilage, lubricating joints, and supporting overall mobility.
- Treatment: Often involves prescription medications or targeted therapies prescribed by vets during flare-ups or diagnosed conditions—these usually come in shorter treatment courses.

Everhound's Hip & Joint - Daily Soft Chews are created with the mindset of providing consistent, ongoing joint health maintenance. That means once you start, your dog should ideally take a chew every day. Hence, planning how often you receive these chews is vital for maintaining that routine.

What Makes Everhound's Hip & Joint Soft Chews Different? (Cold-Made & Transparent)

A big selling point for Everhound's product is their cold-made soft chew format. Unlike hard chews exposed to high heat, cold-made chews undergo minimal heat during manufacturing, protecting the integrity of sensitive ingredients like fish oils and vitamins. This method helps preserve maximum potency and palatability—important for dogs who are picky or need sensitive ingredient delivery.

Another refreshing aspect is their claim of using " eight familiar ingredients." Transparency is something I personally value highly in supplements. Everhound openly lists ingredients such as glucosamine, chondroitin, MSM, turmeric, omega-3-rich fish oils, vitamin C, and antioxidants derived from natural sources. Having clear, straightforward labeling helps dog owners trust what they’re giving their pets—no hidden fillers or confusing additives.

How Long Does One Jar Last in Real Life?

Now, to address what every dog owner wants to know: How long does a supply last? A single jar of Everhound Hip & Joint - Daily Soft Chews typically contains 60 chews.

Chews per day	Jar size (chews)	Duration (days)	Duration (months)
1	60	60 days	~2 months
2 (for larger dogs or as recommended)	60	30 days	1 month

Since dosage depends on your dog’s weight and health needs, plan accordingly. For many average-sized dogs, 1 chew daily is the norm, so you’ll need roughly 6 jars per year to cover every day.

Deliver Every 360 Days: Practicality Check

At first glance, ordering an “annual subscription” that delivers once every 360 days might feel perplexing—how can one jar last a whole year? The truth is, Everhound allows customization and bundles that let you stock up in advance if you prefer fewer deliveries with more quantity.

- If you only order one jar (60 chews) to be delivered annually, realistically, it won’t last a year; it will cover 1-2 months.
- To fully cover 365 days, you’d need about 6 jars in one shipment—or have the subscription set to deliver multiple jars per year (e.g., every 60 days or quarterly).
- Alternatively, you can build a one-time order that lasts you months and enroll in subscription plans that ship more frequently.

This means that the "deliver every 360 days" option usually applies to customers buying in bulk or wanting to stockpile their dog’s chews for convenience and long-term savings.

Pricing Clarity: One-Time Purchase vs. Subscription

Purchase Option	Price	How Long It Lasts (approx.)	Delivery Frequency	Cancellation Policy
One-Time Purchase (1 jar)	$39.97	30-60 days	No recurring delivery	N/A
Annual Subscription (bulk order)	Varies by quantity	Depends on jars ordered Every 360 days Cancel anytime

By subscribing annually, you can sometimes unlock bundle discounts or save on shipping costs, but you must be sure the volume matches your dog's daily needs for the whole year. The flexibility to cancel anytime from Everhound's subscription is a plus, reducing your risk if your dog's needs change.

Bundles & Subscribe-and-Save Math

Everhound offers options to purchase multiples of jars upfront. For example:

1. Buy 6 jars at once: This covers about a year of daily support and may come with a modest bulk discount.
2. Subscribe and save monthly: Smaller monthly shipments may be easier to budget and keep fresher, especially if you prefer not to store large amounts.
3. Annual delivery of bulk supply: One large order shipped yearly can be handy but requires upfront payment and sufficient storage at home.

Subscription offers often provide a 10-15% discount compared to one-time purchases, especially when combined with promotional deals.

Payment Options & Convenience

Everhound's checkout supports popular payment tools like American Express and Apple Pay, offering fast and secure options for recurring subscriptions or one-time buys. My tip: use Apple Pay for smooth mobile checkout, especially if you're managing subscriptions on the go.

My Subscription Gotchas to Check Before You Commit

- Expiration Dates: Confirm shelf life on bulk orders to avoid waste.
- Change Frequency Flexibility: Can you easily update delivery intervals if your dog's dosage needs change?
- Cancellation Process: Verify how simple it is to cancel and if there are any penalties.
- Shipping Costs: Does the subscription include free shipping on bulk orders?

Final Thoughts: Can You Really Wait a Year for Everhound's Hip & Joint Chews?

Yes, but with qualifications.

Everhound's deliver every 360 days model is tailored for owners who prefer to receive a year's worth of daily soft chews in one go, often bundled at a discount. This approach suits those who want convenience and are confident in their dog's steady daily use over an extended period.

However, if everhound.com you order just one jar at a time or don't want to store a bulk supply, a more frequent delivery schedule or one-time purchases may work better to maintain freshness and manage costs.

The key is knowing your dog's daily dosage needs and planning purchase quantities accordingly. The product's transparency about its ingredients, cold-made manufacturing process, and flexible subscription options make it a strong choice for long-term hip and joint support.

If you decide to try Everhound's subscription, remember you can cancel anytime, which adds a layer of risk-free convenience. Just ensure your subscription volume matches your dog's intake so you're neither overordering nor running short.

Summary Table: Is an Annual Subscription Right for You?

Criteria	Annual Subscription (360-day delivery)	Monthly or Quarterly Delivery	Upfront Cost	Higher (bulk purchase)
Lower per shipment	Convenience	Very convenient, fewer orders	More frequent management	Chew Freshness
Depends on storage conditions	Typically fresher, smaller batches	Flexibility	Less flexible mid-cycle	More frequent chance to adjust
Cancellation	Cancel anytime	Cancel anytime
