Hiring a land clearing contractor is a big decision, especially if you are clearing a homesite or a property you plan to keep for decades. Asking the right questions up front helps you avoid damaged ground, missed trees and surprise costs. South Atlantic Land Works encourages every landowner to ask them, including of us.

Start by asking how the land will be cleared. A contractor who pushes everything into burn piles leaves a very different result from one who mulches in place. Ask what equipment will be used, how they protect the soil and what the site will look like when they leave. Ask whether they can save specific Great site trees, whether they handle grading and how they price the work. A good contractor will happily walk the property with you and explain the plan.

It is also worth checking reputation. South Atlantic Land Works holds an A+ rating with the BBB and is rated five stars by customers on Google. Mike is happy to answer every question before you commit, because a clear plan at the start is what makes a clearing job go smoothly.

Brush piles left from old clearing work can become a problem of their own, harboring rodents and snakes and making mowing impossible. Where old piles exist, the mulcher can often grind them down as part of the job, cleaning up decades of past work in a single visit.

Access is often the hidden challenge on rural properties. Gates may be narrow, old roads may be washed out and soft spots may hide under leaf litter. Planning the route for the track loader and trailer in advance avoids damage to driveways and lawns, and where needed the crew can clear and stabilize an access path as the first step of the job.

The crew respects your property and your neighbors. Work areas are agreed in advance, equipment stays inside the limits you set and the site is left tidy at the end of every day. Being based in Rice keeps travel short for jobs across Prince Edward County and the neighboring counties, which helps with scheduling and keeps mobilization costs reasonable. The crew runs CAT track equipment, including a CAT 275 compact track loader with a forestry mulching head. Wide tracks keep ground pressure low, which means fewer ruts and less damage on soft Piedmont clay.

FAQ About Land Clearing Near Me How much does land clearing cost in Central Virginia? Land clearing costs depend on how thick the vegetation is, the size of the trees, the terrain and how much of the property you want opened up. A lot of light brush and saplings costs far less than mature hardwood on a slope. South Atlantic Land Works gives free estimates after walking the property, so you get a real number for your land rather than a guess. Call 434-603-1964 to arrange one. What is forestry mulching? Forestry mulching is a clearing method where a mulching head cuts and grinds brush, saplings and small trees in place, leaving the material as a layer of mulch on the ground. South Atlantic Land Works runs a mulching head on a CAT compact track loader, so a site in Rice or Farmville can be cleared in a single pass with no hauling and no burn piles. Is forestry mulching better than bulldozer clearing? For most homesites, pastures, trails, fence lines and hunting land, mulching is cleaner and more cost effective because it keeps topsoil and roots in place and eliminates burn piles. A dozer can remove stumps and strip a site completely, which some building projects need. Mike at South Atlantic Land Works will recommend the right mix for your property, including grading or stump grinding where needed. Can I clear land during Virginia's spring burning season? Yes, if the clearing is done by mulching. Virginia's 4 PM Burning Law restricts open burning near woodland from February 15 through April 30, which can hold up traditional clearing that relies on burn piles. Because South Atlantic Land Works grinds vegetation in place, there is nothing to burn and spring projects can go ahead on schedule. Do I need a permit to clear land in Virginia? It depends on the size and purpose of the project and on your county's rules. Larger land disturbing projects can fall under Virginia's erosion and sediment control requirements, so it is worth checking with your county before work starts. Mulching leaves soil covered and roots in place, which helps limit erosion. South Atlantic Land Works can talk through your plans when it walks the property. How long does it take to clear an acre of land? Clearing time varies with vegetation density, tree size, slope and ground conditions. Light brush can go quickly, while heavy timber or steep ground takes longer. After walking your property, Mike at South Atlantic Land Works can give you a realistic timeframe along with your free estimate, and the crew works Monday through Saturday to fit your schedule. What happens to the trees and brush after clearing? With forestry mulching, trees and brush are ground into wood chips and spread across the cleared area. That mulch layer protects Piedmont clay from erosion, holds moisture and breaks down into organic matter over time. There are no debris piles to haul away or burn, which is one reason South Atlantic Land Works uses mulching on most jobs. Can you save certain trees when clearing my property? Yes. Selective clearing is one of South Atlantic Land Works' specialties. Before work begins, Mike walks the property with you and marks the oaks, shade trees and privacy screens you want to keep. The compact track loader and mulching head can then clear the underbrush and unwanted trees around them without damaging what stays. Can you clear land for food plots and hunting? South Atlantic Land Works regularly clears food plots, shooting lanes and access trails on hunting land across Prince Edward, Cumberland, Buckingham and Charlotte counties. Mulching opens the ground for discing and seeding while leaving the surrounding cover that holds deer and turkey intact. Will the brush grow back after forestry mulching? Some species, such as sweetgum and many invasive shrubs, can sprout back from roots, so mulching works best with follow up mowing or maintenance. Once the woody growth has been cleared, keeping it open is usually straightforward. Mike at South Atlantic Land Works can suggest a maintenance plan based on what is growing on your land. Getting drainage right on red clay soil is important, and the crew shapes the ground so water moves away from where it should not sit.
