The weeks after rhinoplasty are where much of the practical planning happens. Who drives on the day of surgery, how follow-up visits fit into the calendar, when it feels Los Angeles Nose Job comfortable to return to work or community events. For residents of Beverlywood and Pico-Robertson, those questions include how to get to and from the office of Dr. Jacob Sedgh at 9201 Sunset Blvd in West Hollywood. Robertson Blvd runs north from the neighborhood toward Santa Monica Boulevard, which makes the route easy to picture even before the first appointment. Recovery begins with the surgical plan. Dr. Sedgh, a double board-certified facial plastic surgeon trained in otolaryngology and in facial plastic and reconstructive surgery, discusses what to expect at consultation, including the general sequence of follow-up visits. When bony reshaping is needed, he can use the Piezo ultrasonic system, which reshapes nasal bone with micro-vibrations rather than manual rasps and osteotomes. Published studies have reported less bruising and swelling in the first week with this approach, but individual recovery varies and every person heals at their own pace.

Swelling after a nose job tends to settle in stages, and the final shape can take time to show. That is one reason patience matters, and it is also why follow-up appointments are part of the process rather than an afterthought. Google reviewers, who rate the practice 4.7 stars across about 156 reviews, frequently mention a smooth process from consultation to follow-up and an attentive staff. For someone in Pico-Robertson balancing family, work and community commitments, knowing that aftercare is organized can make the whole experience feel more manageable. Having a friend or relative available for the first day or two at home is also worth arranging well in advance. Timing a procedure around important dates is sensible. Holidays, weddings, travel and busy periods at work all deserve a place in the conversation, and it helps to bring a rough calendar to the consultation. The office is open Monday to Friday, 9am to 5pm, with consultations by appointment, so scheduling the first visit around a working week is usually manageable. A medical evaluation decides candidacy, results vary, and the risks of surgery, including the possibility that a revision may be needed later, should be discussed clearly before booking. Fees depend on the procedure, its complexity, anesthesia and facility charges, and they are quoted at consultation. Residents of Beverlywood and Pico-Robertson considering a Los Angeles nose job can call (310) 888-2884 to arrange a consultation. Appointments take place at the Sunset Blvd office on the Sunset Strip in West Hollywood, near the Doheny Drive edge of Beverly Hills, where recovery planning is part of the very first conversation rather than something left until after surgery.

FAQ About Los Angeles Nose Job What is the average cost of a nose job in Los Angeles? There is no single figure, because the fee depends on whether the surgery is primary or revision, how much structural work is needed, and the anesthesia and surgical facility costs. Revision and combined functional and cosmetic cases usually take longer than a straightforward primary rhinoplasty. At Jacob Sedgh, MD in West Hollywood, a written quote follows the consultation once Dr. Sedgh has examined the nose and agreed a plan with the patient. How long does a nose job last? The structural changes from rhinoplasty are designed to be permanent, although the nose continues to age naturally with the rest of the face. Swelling settles gradually, and the tip can take a year or more to show its final definition. Dr. Jacob Sedgh follows patients through that first year from his office on Sunset Blvd. Is rhinoplasty 100% safe? No surgery is free of risk. Rhinoplasty carries risks such as bleeding, infection, breathing changes, asymmetry and the possibility of needing revision. Dr. Sedgh, a double board-certified facial plastic surgeon, reviews medical history, candidacy and specific risks at consultation so patients can make an informed decision before anything is scheduled. How do I choose a rhinoplasty surgeon in Los Angeles? Look at board certification, the surgeon's training, how much of their practice is devoted to the nose, and before and after photos of noses similar to yours. Dr. Jacob Sedgh trained in head and neck surgery at the University of Pittsburgh and completed a facial plastic surgery fellowship at Penn State Hershey, and his practice is limited to the nose, face, ears and neck. A consultation is also a chance to judge how clearly a surgeon explains the plan. Do ENT surgeons do rhinoplasty? Many facial plastic surgeons, including Dr. Sedgh, began in otolaryngology, the ENT specialty, before completing fellowship training in facial plastic and reconstructive surgery. That background means the septum, airway and nasal valves are part of every rhinoplasty plan, not only the outside shape. Patients with breathing complaints can have functional and cosmetic goals assessed together in West Hollywood. Can insurance cover any part of a nose job? Purely cosmetic rhinoplasty is not covered by insurance. Functional work, such as correcting a deviated septum that blocks breathing, may be partly covered when the problem is documented and the plan's criteria are met. Jacob Sedgh, MD can explain which parts of a combined procedure are functional and which are cosmetic; call (310) 888-2884 to ask. What is recovery like after rhinoplasty? Most patients wear a splint for about the first week and see the worst bruising and swelling fade over the following weeks, although every recovery is different. Strenuous exercise, glasses resting on the nose and strong sun are usually limited for a period. Dr. Sedgh uses the Piezo ultrasonic system for bone work, which published studies associate with less early bruising, and he gives each patient written aftercare instructions. Is it better to have a nose job abroad or in Los Angeles? Surgery abroad can look cheaper at first, but follow-up visits, managing complications and any future revision are much harder from another country. Having rhinoplasty in Los Angeles keeps the surgeon within reach for the whole first year of healing. Patients from across the city, including Beverly Hills, Century City, Westwood and Culver City, see Dr. Sedgh at one office on the Sunset Strip. What is male rhinoplasty? Male rhinoplasty adapts the operation to masculine facial features, usually keeping a straighter, stronger bridge and avoiding an over-rotated or overly narrow tip. Many men also want better breathing at the same time. Dr. Jacob Sedgh plans male rhinoplasty around the brow, cheekbones and jawline so the nose stays in proportion with the face. What is revision rhinoplasty and when is it needed? Revision rhinoplasty corrects concerns that remain after an earlier nose surgery, whether cosmetic or functional. It is more intricate than a first operation because of scar tissue, reduced cartilage and changed skin. Dr. Sedgh evaluates the previous surgery and generally advises waiting until the nose has fully settled before planning a revision at his West Hollywood practice. What is the difference between open and closed rhinoplasty? Open rhinoplasty adds a small incision across the columella, the strip of skin between the nostrils, which gives the surgeon a direct view of the tip structures. Closed rhinoplasty keeps all incisions inside the nose. The right approach depends on the anatomy and the changes needed, and Dr. Sedgh explains his recommendation at consultation. Is a non-surgical nose job permanent? A non-surgical nose job uses injectable filler to smooth a bump or lift the tip, and the effect is temporary. Filler cannot make a nose smaller or improve breathing, and it carries its own risks. Jacob Sedgh, MD offers both injectable and surgical options and can explain which suits a patient's goals; call (310) 888-2884 to book a consultation.
