In a basic Limbo game, a player selects a target multiplier (for instance, ₤ 2.00 \ times ₤, ₤ 10.00 \ times ₤, and even ₤ 1,000.00 \ times ₤) and positions a wager using cryptocurrency. A random number generator (RNG) then produces a multiplier outcome. If the created multiplier is equivalent to or greater than the player's picked target, the bet wins. If it falls short, the bet loses.

The name "Limbo" comes from the classic carnival game of limbo dancing: How low can you go? In this context, the concern is: How high can you intend before your home edge takes over?

Provable Fairness: The Backbone of Crypto Limbo

Among the biggest worries in conventional online gambling is whether the casino is rigging the video games behind closed doors. The crypto gambling industry fixed this openness problem utilizing Provably Fair algorithms.

Limbo games use cryptographic hashing (typically SHA-256) to show that the result of a round was predetermined before the gamer even positioned a bet, which the casino did not alter the result mid-game.

Secret Components of Provably Fair Systems:

1. Server Seed: Generated by the casino, hashed, and shown to the player before the bet.
2. Client Seed: Generated by the player's internet browser (or personalized by the user).
3. Nonce: A number that increments by one with every bet positioned, making sure every round is unique.

After a round concludes, the unhashed server seed is revealed to the gamer. The gamer can plug these variables into an open-source verifier tool to mathematically show that the multiplier result was legitimate.
